New President of the Management Board

Hans-Lothar Schäfer takes over the helm

Eschborn. Hans-Lothar Schäfer (50) has been appointed President of the Management Board of Techem GmbH, one of the world's leading energy service providers for the real estate industry. He is thus the successor of Horst Enzelmüller, who has moved to the Advisory Board.

Hans-Lothar Schäfer commenced his career in 1985 in Techem's Software Development department. After holding a variety of management positions in the Technology, Organisation, Service and IT departments, he was appointed to the Board of Directors of Techem AG in 2005. In 2006, the graduate physicist took over responsibility for the international business in addition to the Technology department. Since the end of 2008, Hans-Lothar Schäfer has been responsible for the core business in Germany and for Technology. When Techem AG changed its legal form to that of a "GmbH" in March 2009, Hans-Lothar Schäfer was appointed Managing Director. In May of this year, he also became President of the Management Board on a temporary basis.

Horst Enzelmüller, Chairman of the Techem Advisory Board, welcomes the unanimous resolution of the Advisory Board: "With Hans-Lothar Schäfer, we have the right man at the top of our organisation. He knows Techem inside out. He is therefore a guarantee that our strategic corporate goals will continue to be pursued consistently: the consolidation of our market leadership in Germany and the further expansion of Techem Energy Contracting and our international business".
